About the College:

Women's College, Agartala (affiliated to Tripura University) was established in June 1965 at the heart of Agartala to facilitate the participation of women in higher education. It is one of the oldest Government Degree Colleges in North-East India catering only to women of the state as well as of the adjoining states. Students come to join this college from diverse backgrounds and from all corners of the state and beyond. It has been re-accredited Grade B+ with 2.62 points by NAAC in 3rd cycle. Agartala is well-connected with rest of the country by air, rail and by road (NH-8).

About Research and Development Cell, Women's College, Agartala:

The Research and Development Cell, Women's College, Agartala was established in 2022 to provide a friendly atmosphere for research to teachers of the college and also facilitate research output by faculty members of various disciplines of the college. Its primary objective is to inculcate a research mindset in newly appointed teachers by encouraging them to participate in seminars, taking up research projects as well as aiming for publications of their work. In the long run the Research and Development Cell, Women's College aims at creating an environment within its campus which can motivate undergraduate students to aim for higher studies.

About the Seminar:

The national seminar on "Recent Trends in Research in Sciences, Social Sciences and Languages" is an endeavour of the Research and Development Cell of Women's College, Agartala to offer a stage to leading researchers in various fields to reach out to young researchers and teachers of their discipline and beyond with the latest ideas trending in their respective branches. Overall the seminar is expected to provide an impetus to young researchers of various disciplines as well as strengthen the existing research network in respective disciplines.
